

April 6, 2006

WalMart has become a dominant force in many communities across the nation. They should not be allowed to govern or own any banks or lending institutions for the following reasons

WalMart repeatedly violates state laws to provide minimum health insurance. They provide no health insurance

WalMart deceives the public and their employees as follows. Information I received from a caseworker working for the state of Indiana public assistance program: she has received numerous applicants sent to them by WalMart human resources to apply for food stamps and other publicly funded assistance.

No unethical and law breaking entity should manage or own a bank!

Ellen Antoniadis